

Financial Preparedness

Secure Finances for Disaster Recovery

Once the earthquake is over, your recovery will be much easier if you have all your financial records available and in order. Keep copies of essential documents, such as identification, earthquake insurance policies and financial records, as well as cash, in a secure, waterproof container. Keep near disaster supplies. Include a household inventory (a list and photos or video of your belongings).

Earthquake Insurance in California

Are you prepared? Are you covered?

Do you know?

- Earthquake damage is not covered by most residential insurance policies.
- No part of California is “immune” from earthquakes.
- The California Earthquake Authority (CEA) offers flexible coverage for personal property and additional living expenses.
- You do not have to make out-of-pocket expenditures before receiving payments on your qualifying CEA claim.
- The CEA is financially sound and able to handle multiple events.

Find out more about the CEA's insurance products at www.EarthquakeAuthority.com. For more information about your policy options, call your residential property insurance company or agent.
